In 2020, Michelle founded Happiness in Healing Coaching to motivate individuals towards their purpose. Witnessing the damaging effects the Covid-19 pandemic had on relationships, employment, parenting, and mental health as a whole, she embarked on an empowerment mission. Being the go-to advisor for many during those dark days, her goal became clear—to help individuals do damage control in their own lives and put a positive spin on their existence.

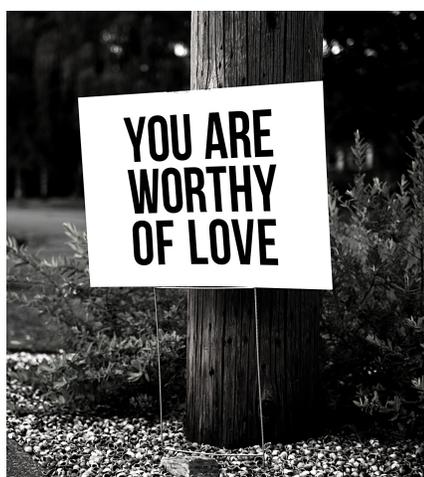

With life coaching, Michelle has an opportunity to give back and support her clients in discovering their WHY, and making a worthwhile investment in themselves.

The result is priceless!

A LITTLE ABOUT ME

After waking from a coma, brought on by a life-threatening illness, Michelle recovered with the loss of one of her most vital faculties. She did not let that loss set her back, nor did she use it as an excuse to be unsuccessful. Instead, her setback became her catalyst to propel her from victim to victor—and she started living life on her own terms. Michelle became a life coach to help others do the same.

Michelle is committed to guiding organizations into their highest potential, and inspiring confidence and self-worth in individuals. She believes in sharing her life experiences to teach valuable lessons about forgiveness, breakthrough, emotional wealth, and the pursuit of happiness. Once these core elements are achieved, individuals are practically guaranteed victory in every other aspect of their life.
